MINES AND MINING.

The copper mines at Jackson creek, Humboldt county, are showing up well. It is said the ore can be cut with a knife in its native state of pure copper.

There is greater mining activity in the old camps and mountains south of Wells this fall than during the spring and summer months.

The value of the ore extracted from the Comstock mines for the past week is as follows: Con. Cal & Va., $9,599.60; Ophir, 1,762.71; Silver Hill, 713; Gould & Curry, $457; total, $13,562.31.

Work on the Palo Alto and Blue Bird mines at Contoet, Elko county, will soon be resumed with a full force of men on each property. It is said that Contoet will be the liveliest mining camp in the State this winter.

A Women's Awful Peril.

"There is only one chance to save your life and that is through an operation" were the startling words heard by Mrs. I. B. Hunt of Lime Ridge, Wis., from her doctor after he had vainly tried to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. Gall stones had formed and she constantly grew worse. Then she began to use Electric Bitters which wholly cured her. It's a wonderful Stomach, Liver and Kidney remedy. Cures Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite. Try it. Only 50 cents. Guaranteed by S. J. Hodgkinson Druggist.

MULES, RATS AND MEN.

Miners Show Wisdom In Paying Heed to Certain Phenomena.

"Well, that isn't superstition; it's reality," and the coal mine inspector didn't seem a bit pleased with the suggestion that superstition might sometimes be responsible for the actions of miners.

"Coal miners," he went on to say, "are not superstitious. Hear noises? Of course they do, but do people suppose those noises are imaginary? It beats all how little is known generally about coal mining.

"Folks get it into their heads," the inspector continued, "that a man who will quit work in a certain part of a mine because he sees the rats deserting that section is superstitious when, as a matter of fact, he simply displays sound judgment. Very soon after the rats quit sounds will be heard, and later on a slide follows. What would have happened to the man had he credited his fears to superstition by disregarding the exodus of the rats and the subsequent noises?

"Rats are the first of a mine's inhabitants to realize danger, and then comes the mule. Man is the last. So it is only natural that he should take as positive indications of trouble the actions of the others, and he should not be regarded as a superstitious creature on that account.

"After rats desert an entry it is next to impossible to get a mule into it, not because the rats left, but because the mule realizes the danger. Left to themselves rats or mules would never be caught in slides in mines, but it is different with men, who will not follow the lead of the other two."—Denver Post.

A Cruel Joke.

A Yale Summit girl recently played a cruel joke on her mother, and this is how it happened: She accidentally found a love letter that her father had written to her mother in the halycon days of their courtship. She read the letter to her mother, substituting her own name and that of her lover. The mother raved with anger and stamped her foot in disgust, forbidding her daughter to have anything to do with a man who would write such nonsensical stuff to a girl. The girl then gave the letter to her mother to read, and the house became so suddenly quiet that she could hear the cat walking in the back yard.—Salsbury Press.

Had Seen Them All Before.

Once while James Whitcomb Riley was visiting a southern town where he was booked to give a reading a committee called to take him in a carriage over the city. In acknowledging the compliment he said:

"I'll go with you, gentlemen, provided you promise that you will not show me the new courthouse, the new town hall, the new bridge, the new gas well, the new school building and the new jail, for I've seen them all a hundred times in as many towns, and they invariably wear me out before the time arrives for the curtain to rise on the evening entertainment!"—Atlanta Constitution.

A Finished Speech.

Miss A.—When I'm asked to sing, I don't say, "No, I can't sing," nor wait to be coaxed, but sit right down at the piano and—

Miss B.—Leave the company to find it out for themselves.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Goat Didn't Know.

"Oh, my dear daughter," to a little girl of 6, "you should not be frightened and run from the goat. Don't you know you are a Christian Scientist?" "But, mamma," excitedly, "the billy-goat doesn't know it."—Trained Motherhood.

Market gardeners around Paris cultivate the dandelion on a very large scale and sell it for good prices in the market.

Grover Cleveland is interviewed and informs his countrymen that he is dissatisfied with the Democratic party, since it departed from the ancient land marks of Democracy. These ancient land marks were made by Cleveland and other enemies of the old Democracy who sought to destroy the Democratic party during Cleveland's last administration, and who sought in 1896 to lead it into the gold or commercial camp with headquarters in New York under the heading of firm name of Cleveland, Whitney & Co.

The departure of the party from its ancient land marks made by Cleveland and his kind of Democrats will be the means in the future of saving from destruction the fabric that secures liberty to the American people. It is not the intention to claim that the Democratic party did not take a departure from its enemies in 1896 at Chicago when it gave to the country the platform made in convention in that city.

There must be a party in the United States to defend the principles upon which the rights of the people rest or their rights will depart never to return in the pure and simple form they are in. The defense of these rights made it necessary at Chicago that a departure from Clevelandism and its imperialistic tendency to centralization of rights in the hands of a few be taken to prevent the few from becoming a ruling power in the United States to the exclusion of that power in the body of the people.

It has ever been the purpose of the Democratic party to maintain and to secure to the most humble among the people the political rights enjoyed by the most powerful and exalted citizen, and to continue that purpose through its political work it was imperative upon Democrats, that Mr. Cleveland and his sort be made to understand that the few were not running the Democratic party, or leading the Democracy of the United States. Which work of the party at Chicago in 1896, is the beginning and end of the departure made by the party, and is the fountain that provides the complaints that flow from the lips of Cleveland when he has an opportunity to become a Benedict Arnold to the party.

The Democratic party at Chicago not only departed for all time from Clevelandism and its degrading influence, but it also departed from Bourbonism in the party which has grown as a fungus upon the decay there was going on within it, caused by imperatives of the Cleveland sort.

The Democratic party to-day is an aggressive and a progressive party within the meaning of the times, full of health and vigor, and will be full of future usefulness to the people in their struggles against centralization of power for their oppression. Its future work will be clothed in progress for the upbuilding of human rights against oppression in all its forms, which will include the aggressiveness required to secure progress. It will be the future political power of the people in their conquering march to a higher and better civilization and a more enlightened system of government to provide security and protection to individual rights.

The United States and the world have entered upon a new work, which Mammon is forcing upon the toiling millions upon the earth by seeking to enslave them, which will not be accomplished as feudalism was accomplished from the tenth to the thirteenth centuries, when men were oppressed until they sought relief in death from the hands of their oppressors. Although the time included within the centuries mentioned are known in history as the darkest of the dark ages, yet men contended in those dark times for liberty, and in the end secured it. Progress was slow, almost imperceptible, but it was made till the end came through emancipation from thralldom to a lauded aristocracy.

Under the lights of the present, the world moves forward more in one month than it moved in a century in the times mentioned, for which reason there is no cause for despondency by anyone who loves liberty and has a benevolent feeling for his kind. The feudal system came from ownership of lands by a few. The commercial system has come and will continue from centralization of the means of distribution of the world's products by a few; also from a centralized general ownership of public utilities by a few, and under our protected system for the protection of labor, as claimed, should it be continued, there will continue a system of trusts more oppressive than any of the means of oppression before mentioned.

The removal of these means of oppression will be the future work of the Democratic party, but the change will not be made in any spirit of injustice to those who have succeeded to ownership. It will be carried forward in a spirit of justice and benevolence and with reference to the greatest good for the largest number. The age will not tolerate any spirit of injustice, as the work of adjustment will be placed in the hands of intelligent men. The mean and low passions that too often make an appearance in a street politician will not direct the work of reform, as it will be directed and secured through the highest order of intellect.

Kind Words From Mormondom.

The Post Intelligencer of Seattle calls attention to the dwindling population of Nevada, and thinks it is liable to still farther decrease in the coming decade. It is much mistaken. Nevada's population is liable to greatly increase in the next few years. A great mineral belt runs across Nevada, which is so far from railroad facilities that it has not yet been much explored. Cheap and quick communication with it will soon be made, and then we shall see an activity there which has not been seen since the Comstock went into eclipse. Nevada is one of the great mineral States of the Union, as will soon be demonstrated. Meanwhile, don't worry.—Salt Lake Tribune.

Promise of Pleasure.

It is said a new Haverly's Mastodon minstrel carries more scenery than any other similar organization on the road. This company is larger and better than any other, and besides George Wilson, the original Big Four, Gardner and Hunt, Dan Allman and ten other comedians, a vocal corps of twelve, and orchestra of twenty pieces there are many novelties as well, and which will be seen when this company plays here.

New Superintendent.

Gilbert Douglass of Virginia passed through Reno yesterday on his way home from San Francisco. At the Gould & Curry meeting in the city Monday Mr. Douglass was elected superintendent of this mine. The Comstockers seem to be trying to absorb the Gould & Curry stock.

The New Paper.

"It is rumored," says the Winnemucca News, "that the paper Mr. Sims is to start in Reno will be a six column folio weekly, and will be changed to a daily as soon as business justifies it." It will be known as the Reno Republican.

OMAHA, Nebraska, Dec. 19—Eddie Cudahy, the fifteen-year-old son of E. A. Cudahy, the millionaire packer, was kidnapped from a street near his father's house early last night and, in spite of a careful search by hundreds of officers, not a trace of him was found tonight. A note left at the house today says that he is safe and held for twenty thousand dollar ransom.

LATER—2 a. m. Dec. 20—Young Cudahy returned at one o'clock this morning. He had been kidnapped but the men became frightened and freed him.

Boers' Activity Is Alarming Britain.

Special to the JOURNAL.

LONDON, Dec. 19—General Knox has been forced to abandon the pursuit of General Dewet. A big battle is imminent between General Clement's forces and the Boers under General DeLary. The British government is alarmed over the renewed activity in Africa and every effort will be made to strengthen Kitchener's force.

Special to the JOURNAL.

PEKING, Dec 19—Ministers of powers today reached a final agreement, even the points raised by England are being settled.

Are They Ready to Turn Outlaws?

The Legislature of Nevada will convene in a little over a month. Whether they will turn "out laws" or turn "outlaws" will depend largely upon their willingness to see the silver lining in the impending lottery cloud. Again, they may be looking for the pot of gold that lies buried at the foot of the rainbow of the storm. This is alleged wit. The JOURNAL impugns the honesty of no member of the incoming legislature. In fact it could not positively and under oath name a single Senator or Assemblyman who favors the passage of this iniquitous measure.

They are working in a six-foot vein that carries eighteen inches of bornite and copper oxide. About 145 tons of choice ore is on the dump.

PASSES TO HER REST

A Worthy Woman Looks on the Mysteries Beyond the Veil.

Early yesterday morning Mrs. Sophia Smith died suddenly of heart failure at the home of her son-in-law, John A. Fitzgerald, on Third street.

Mrs. Smith was a native of Tennessee and was aged 74 years and six months. She was a resident of Plumas county for many years. The last three winters were spent with relatives in this city.

One son, C. E. Smith of Beckwith, and two daughters, Mrs. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Kate Emmett, mourn their loss. The deceased was the widow of Edwin C. Smith. It will be remembered that in 1885, while on horseback, he was shot in the back by a man in ambush, who paid the penalty for his act by being lynched by the citizens of Sierra Valley.

The funeral will be held at 8 o'clock this afternoon in the Adventist church and the remains will be taken to Beckwith on Friday morning's train, where she will be laid by her husband's side.

Chief Hodgkinson Wants Hose Wagon.

At the next meeting of the town board, Chief Hodgkinson will give the worthy aldermen some straight talk on the necessity of purchasing a hose and ladder truck for the fire department.

He has gone to the trouble of obtaining estimates on what these can be bought for, and will show cuts of the different styles to the city fathers.

Sam says that if he can't get a hose wagon he'll jump his job. He's tired of having the department jeered at because the hose cart is always so late at the fires. The cost of a hose cart and a span of horses is liable to be saved several times a year by the doubled efficiency of the department.

Haverly's Minstrels Passed Through.

Haverly's minstrels, who recently played a phenomenally successful engagement at the California theater, San Francisco, arrived here last night, en route to Virginia, where they play this evening. Saturday night they return to play in this city and promise the best minstrel performance in our theatrical history.

During their stay last night, manager Riley, George Wilson, the star comedian; Dan Allman and other Elks of the company met a number of local Elks and fraternized pleasantly. After the show Saturday night the Reno Elks will entertain their minstrel brethren.

Is Still at Large.

No trace has yet been found of the burglar who escaped from the jail yard Tuesday. His name is Peter Nelson, instead of Edgar Smith, one of his pals, as reported in yesterday's JOURNAL.

Nelson was placed apart from the other two suspects because he had agreed to turn State's evidence. Sheriff McInnis has offered a reward of $25 for information leading to his apprehension. Nevada, California and Utah officers have been notified of his escape.

Off For Europe.

G. Zolazzi, clerk at the Columbus House, and B. Semenza leave this morning for Italy, where they will visit their birthplace for a few months. N. Sacchi will accompany them as far as Liverpool. He goes to Switzerland. In a few weeks several more members of Reno's Latin quarter will leave for home.

WANTS NO BLOOD MONEY

Nevada Will not Accept a Bribe of Judas to License Larceny.

Gambling at faro and roulette is bad enough, but the player has a show for his money. In these games he has from three to six per cent against him. With the lottery it is different. He may buck it all his life and never win a bet. The percentage against the player is eight times that in any of the games now licensed in this city.

That is not the worst of it. If a minor walks into the Wine House, Owl, Palace or Arcade sporting rooms he is instantly ejected. Did you ever see a woman betting against these games? But everybody would buy lottery tickets. Women and children find it their only opportunity to gamble, and they pour into the greedy maw of the lottery the dollars for which their husbands and fathers toil.

The JOURNAL has confidence in the integrity of our law-makers and fully trusts that they will not, Judas-like, betray our beloved State into the hands of this thieving corporation, even if offered thirty or more pieces of silver.
